

ARCHAEOLOGY Master in English

II st, 2 sem

Coourse leader: Assoc. Professor Klaudia Stala

Lectures:

1. Introduction: At the interface of research - cooperation between an archaeologist and an architect on the subject of conservation design and heritage protection
2. Archeology as a scientific discipline, definition, research and methodology
3. The development of archeology as a scientific discipline. History of archaeological research. Achievements of Polish archaeologists in the country and in the world.
4. Protection of the archaeological heritage - legal acts
5. Archeology of architecture - research issues, selecting research points and their importance in the interpretation of architecture
6. Analysis of archaeological conditions and their impact on design solutions
7. Exposition of the archaeological heritage - archaeological and architectural reserves and conservation problems
8. Architectural design in area of the protected archaeological heritage
9. Archaeological heritage in contemporary urban space
10. Archaeological heritage in the cultural and natural landscape
11. The role of social education in the protection of archaeological heritage. Sustainable development policy. Archaeological heritage as capital
12. Non-destructive archeological research and its role in the interpretation of archaeological discoveries. Selected examples
13. .Conservatory and design conclusions
14. Archaeological and architectural research in Sobótka Górka as a case study
15. Insummary of information

Lecture 1: Assoc. Professor Jolanta Sroczyńska & Assoc. Professor Klaudia Stala,

Lectures 2-12 , 14-15: Assoc. Professor Klaudia Stala

Lecture 13: Ph. D. Dominika Długosz